

ECHO SPARKS

Sounds Of The New Old West

Echo Sparks is an Orange County trio that harkens back to Old California – a place that doesn't really exist anymore, except in sleepy little towns along obscure highways dotted with orange groves, cattle ranches, meandering rivers and cotton trees. They were born of dirt, hopeless love affairs, and drive-thru dairies. They're traveling musical evangelicals... or snake-oil sellers; take your pick.

Featuring double bass, two guitars, and a rich dose of traditional harmony, Echo Sparks is a big fat mashup of folk, rockabilly, old Mexico, blues and 1930s jazz. They travel up and down California highways in search of adventure and musical good times, singing stories that are tangible and pure, 100% authentic. It's a long, long road.

The Band...

CC Kinnick * Vocals, guitars

DA Valdez * Vocals, guitars, banjo, drums

Cindy Ballreich * Upright Bass, mandolin

What People Are Saying...

"For the first time in a long time, I was able to picture a band having a good time in the recording studio, and that comes across in pretty much every song." – No Depression

"...the music of Orange County trio Echo Sparks somehow manages to capture this wild, wandering, lonely, exasperated landscape of this strange ass place [California]. Their latest record Ghost Town Girl could very well be the soundtrack to traversing the cracked highways and oil stained streets of a place you just can't get, until you get it." – Scallywag Magazine

"Track after track the album is filled with incredible harmonies. The band really goes back to genuine folk and rock n'roll, bringing a whole new insight into the current state of music."

– Modern Mystery
